

variation of stirring speed, without exhaustion of the organic carbon source during the oscillation period, wherein the oscillation has a wave period of from about 1 to about 30 minutes, wherein the microorganism is a biological host selected from the group consisting of bacteria, yeast and animal cell, and wherein the cultivation conditions remain aerobic.